

This week in Reception...

We are reading
When the Bees
Buzzed off

You could listen to the story on youtube
or visit your local library.

Have a go at writing using the sounds
that you know!

Perhaps you
could write a sign telling others how to save the bees.

In maths, we are looking at using number tracks to help us with our adding and subtracting. Number tracks are lines of numbers where each number has a box. We colour in the first number and then the following ones.

You could practise this at home by making your own number track inside or outside and then using this to complete simple addition and subtraction number sentences.

In other news...
